Asking Price: €290,200.00

For Sale Ref: 43

If you're looking for a property within walking distance to the beach, golf course, shops, and restaurants but set in a secluded community with probably the best pool around. Then we might have found it for you. This link detached townhouse is set in the area of Torrequebrada which is a fantastic coastal resort between Fuengirola and Torremolinos with direct routes into the city and airport. The property itself is set in a private urbanisation but here every property has its own individual character and there is a certain charm to the urbanisation that is rarely seen now. The ground floor with marble flooring throughout consists of a large open lounge and dining room with a traditional open fireplace that is sufficient enough to heat the entire property. To the far end you have patio doors that lead out to the small secluded terrace and lawn area which faces the coastline. The kitchen is compact and fully fitted with an arched opening to the dining area. A shower room/toilet and a separate utility area complete this level. The upper level again with marble flooring throughout consists of a hallway leading to 2 double bedrooms both with fitted wardrobes. The main bedroom also has patio doors that open out to a terrace balcony with coast and sea views. This level is completed with a fully fitted bathroom. The owners have pointed out that below the ground floor is a basement area that is very large and open. This is also included on the title deeds. It would be fairly simple to open this area to create huge extra living space, possibly being accessed by the existing utility area. We feel this makes this property even more appealing and opens up so much potential.
